Meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A meeting of the Democratic National Committee is called for Wednesday, the 8th of May, at the residence of August Belmont, in this city, to designate the time and place for holding the National Convention.

The World says Belmont's procrastination meets the approval of the Democratic leaders. It adds that the delay seems to have been occasioned with a view to take advantage of the Cincinnati Convention, the results of which may determine as to the time for holding the National Convention.

A meeting at the Clearing House was held to-day. The resolution to expell the Tenth National Bank was defeated by a compromise to put the bank upon future good behavior.

Fenton will address the Liberal Republicans at Cooper Institute next Friday. Schurz will address the Germans at the same place next Wednesday.

Daniel Drew publicly asserts that he was not interested in the locking up of money of the Tenth National Bank. He was examined this morning before United States Commissioner, Davenport. It was proved that the bank did not withhold money from circulation for a consideration and complaint dismissed.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, April 9.—The snow is fifteen inches deep and the weather threatening still.

CHARLESTON, April 9.—The Kuklux trials did not begin to-day, owing to the non arrival of Judge Bond.

WASHINGTON.

Dr. Howard's Case.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The State Department has received advice that the Madrid Government is investigating the case of Dr. Howard. In the meantime, Dr. Howard remains at Cadiz, his orders have been given for his good treatment.

The morning hour was exhausted in discussing the Central depot bill. No action was taken, but the other business was suspended to bring it to a test vote on the motion to refer it to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, which was understood to be opposed to the grant. Lost—yes 18, nays 38. The bill was then referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia. This action secures the ultimate triumph of the Pennsylvania Central combination in securing depot facilities in the city, against which the Baltimore and Ohio combination have been fighting quite bitterly.

The bill authorizing the sale of the old arsenal grounds at Augusta, Ga., passed.

Mr. Pomeroy, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported bills to incorporate the New Mexico Central Railroad Company, and the New Mexico and Gulf Railway Company, and to grant them the right of way.

The House bill authorizing the issue of one cent postal cards passed.

The House members of the Morse Memorial Committee are Roberts, Palmer and Shober.

In the Senate to-day, upon the intimation that Parker's name, at his own request, had been withdrawn, and that Ingraham, colored, had been nominated as Surveyor of Customs at New Orleans, Senator Wilson moved for an executive session, when Kellogg reported Ingraham's nomination from the Committee on Commerce and moved a suspension of the rules and the nomination was confirmed.

The Senate remained in executive session but a few moments.

FOREIGN.

CONSERVATIVE TRIUMPHS IN SPAIN.

Opening of the German Parliament.

HAVANA, April 9.—The Spaniards here rejoice over the result of the elections in Spain. The Spanish Conservatives triumphed in Porto Rico.

Valmaseda has gone to Santiago.

LONDON, April 9.—Remonstrance to the Spanish Government against the prohibition of the departure of Chinese laborers from Cuba is urged in the House of Commons. The Ministry states that the Government was aware the Havana authorities forbid their exodus.

The Post's rumor that the foreign office had received a dispatch from the United States which solved the question of consequential damages is authoritatively denied. The contradiction produces general disappointment.

The Grand Jury at the Old Bailey indicted the Tichborne claimant for forgery and perjury.

A special dispatch to the Manchester Guardian says that the Hon. R. C. Schenck, while in Paris, from which city he returned yesterday, had an interview with the American Consul, and before the Geneva Tribunal of Arbitration, and upon his arrival here called upon Earl Granville.

The result of these interviews, the dispatch says, is that neither the Council nor the Arbitrators will meet at Geneva on the 15th inst., the day appointed for the assembling of the Board, but that the English and American agents will meet and exchange count cases. The dispatch further states that the Board of Arbitrators will not again assemble until the 15th of June.

BERLIN, April 9.—Bismarck read the Emperor's speech upon the opening of the German Parliament. A uniform beer and malt tax, and the acquisition of Alsace and Lorraine are the most startling topics. The speech concluded with the strength acquired by the imperialism of the Fatherland and a guarantee of the peace of Europe.

Stopped the Express.

Owing to some complications the Southern Express Company no longer run cars over the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad. What the trouble is we are not advised, but it is annoying that a break should occur in so important a line.

CONGRESSIONAL.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Sypher, from the Committee on Railways and Canals, reported a bill to incorporate the Shreveport, Oklahoma and New Mexico Railroad. Ordered printed and recommitted.

The bill for the relief of Catterton and McGuire passed.

Three members of the House were appointed to co-operate with the committee for the Morse memorial services on the 16th.

SENATE.

The Senate is discussing the bill for a depot in the heart of the city for the Pennsylvania Central combination.

The Ways and Means Committee is considering the details for a uniform tobacco tax.

The Famed Lecturer.

Olive Logan, at Hoxie's Hall last night, entertained the largest assembly ever known in Knoxville on a similar occasion. All present seemed to enter fully into the mirth, pathos and vigor with which she presented her views of her different kinds of "girls." We can hardly enter into a full review of the lecture. It was replete with fine sentiment, and her manner of treating her subject was hardly without exception well received. She presented the leading traits of her Yankee, Western and Southern girls with tact and eloquence, elaborating more fully her idea of the Southern girl, which proved quite acceptable to her very fine audience. We bespeak for her to-night another overflowing house, when she will lecture on "Nice Young Men." We are sure we but reflect the verdict of all present, when we say her lecture was entirely satisfactory and that they will join us in saying Olive Logan is a very talented, eloquent, pleasing and popular "girl," who, in her way, reaches many "girls" and does them good.

To Our Northern Readers.

Mr. B. D. Angel, of Olenia, Huron county, Ohio, under date of the 4th inst., writes that the ground is still frozen two feet deep and he wants to know how it is with us. We refer him to our Weekly Meteorological table, which will hereafter appear regularly. From it all can see our weather. This has been an unusually late spring with us, but even taking it for comparison it speaks well for us. Our farmers have their corn planted, our trees are in full bloom and our gardens advanced. Our market affords early radishes, onions, &c. Study our weather report and compare it with your own climate, and see how it strikes you.

Married.

On yesterday morning, at the residence of Major Elliott, by Rev. James Park, Mr. A. J. Albers to Miss Ella King.

After partaking of the wedding breakfast, the newly wedded couple left on the eastern train for a trip to the bride's home in Ohio, via the Northern cities.

The good old fashioned custom of remembering the printer was observed on the occasion, and a bountiful supply of the bridal feast sent to our station. May bride and bridegroom enjoy all the happiness allowed mortals here below, and "love's young dream" last till their golden wedding.

April.

Had it not been for April we should never have had unbridles! This may seem a bold statement; but if you consult Herodotus (4th chapter, 19th verse of Koran), you will see that he does not, even distantly, allude to it. This should decide the waver. Was there a waver? Well, never mind, the matter is clear enough to us, and if Adam and Eve did walk about without unbridles, in this shower of months, we are no longer at a loss to conceive their bequest of rheumatism to suffering humanity. April we love thee, but never more be officer of ours!

Local Miscellany.

Olive Logan's arrival was the event of yesterday.

Chattanooga is enjoying the sight of fine beef cattle. That is quite common in Knoxville.

The Roane Iron Company manufactures fifty tons of rails and uses about twenty tons of pig iron per day. They have thirty or forty cars of pig iron packed up about the mill.

The Brownsville Bee says that eggs, lately so plentiful, have wholly disappeared from their market. Are the hens on a strike?

Barry & McDannell have closed their oyster saloon for the season.

Yesterday was breezy and pleasant. The contractors are building another coffer dam for one of the piers of the bridge.

Swan & Baker are going to put up a new business house on Union street.

A number of the merchants have received their spring goods.

Removal.

The office of the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company has been removed to Dr. Ludlow's Building next door to Walley's tobacco store, East Side Gay street, formerly occupied by T. O'Connor & Co., where those in want of one of their well known and reliable machines, or of needles, thread, attachments, &c., can be accommodated upon easy terms.

Our Job Office.

It may not be generally known that we have one of the very best Job Offices in East Tennessee, and we are prepared to do all kinds of book and job work on short notice, in the latest style and on reasonable terms.

Hymns.

Plain and flexible calf, just received at the E. T. B. H.

To discover spurious greenbacks or national bank notes divide the last two figures of the number of the bill by four, and if one remain the letter on the genuine will be A; if two remain it will be B; if three, C; and should there be no remainder the letter will be D. For example, a note is registered 2,461; divide same by four and you will have one remaining. According to the rule the letter on the note will be A. In case the rule fails be certain that the bill is counterfeit.

Governor Jewell received the following from President Grant, the day following the Connecticut election: "Accept my hearty congratulations for the endorsement Connecticut has given you for past services, and for her unshaken confidence in the party of freedom and progress."

"U. S. GRANT."

POLITICS IN UPPER EAST TENNESSEE.

From Washington Chronicle.

EDITORS CHRONICLE: Every other man in Washington county is a candidate or expects to be, and if hand-shaking makes one popular, they will all be elected. The Republicans held a meeting at noon yesterday when the Court adjourned for dinner, that is now in session here, and appointed delegates to the Nashville Convention. The delegates were instructed to go for Grant and Maynard, and I suppose the instructions speak the voice of every Republican in Upper East Tennessee without exception. A resolution was offered, and carried without a dissenting word, strongly and earnestly endorsing the honest, patriotic course of our noble Senator, William G. Brownlow. We believe his honor, integrity and true patriotism the brightest of the bright.

After the Convention had finished its work, Maj. A. H. Penning was loudly called for. He came to the stand and entertained the crowd for about fifteen minutes, with his matchless, inimitable eloquence. He defended the Republican party in the most heroic style, as he is so well qualified to do, and the people applauded with vim and good will. The Major is talked of as a candidate for Congress, and if he should get the nomination, and would accept it and take the stump with his usual pluck and determination, there would not be enough of the Democrats who would attempt to meet him, left, after he had made the canvass, to make a decent constable. The Democrats are awful hungry. They are already offering about two candidates in every county for the Congressional race, and about half of them say they will run the race through despite the convention. McClellan and Haynes are the candidates from Sullivan on the Democratic side, Earnest and Reeves from this county and Ingersoll and Reeves from Greene, and so on from every county; but the report this evening is that Senter will be the candidate, and that he has already been nominated by Jim White and others at Rogersville.

The people are talking already a great deal about the county, State and National elections, but still the farming operations go bravely on. Wheat looks splendidly. All are done sowing oats, and corn has been planted. Now is the busy time.

French and German War Preparations.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says:

The Prussians are fortifying Metz with enormous cannon of steel from Krupp's manufactory, of the same caliber as those at Mount Valerien during the war. They are also enlarging Strasburg, so that instead of ninety thousand, it can contain two hundred thousand men, making a canal parallel with the Rhine, and an enormous basin for ships coming from Mannheim and the North Sea.

Thiers, in an interview with a contributor to the Paris Patrie, said the part of a Frenchman now is to act as a fireman, quenching every incendiary attempt. The policy must be uniformly pacific, so that the unequal commercial and manufacturing resources of France may be built up. He says he has one hundred and thirty thousand soldiers training in the rudiments of camp life, and considers the future of the army very hopeful, yet France only wishes to live in peace with all the world. He claims Germany has already spent for war expenses the two milliards paid by France. The remaining three milliards will be promptly paid, and that Bismarck intends making war with it in the future. In the recent war the French soldiers were not at fault, but the army organization.

The New York World, the leading Democratic organ of the country, finds fault with Mr. Washburne for the protection and assistance he rendered to the poor Germans who were in Paris when the war broke out.

The World abuses Mr. Washburne because (as Mr. W. states) "when the pressure for the departure of the Germans was the greatest I went myself to the railroad depot at night, after working all day at my legation, and remained till midnight, to superintend their departure, and to seek out and provide for cases of extreme destitution that had not been known." The German Government has thanked Mr. Washburne for these disinterested, self-sacrificing efforts. But the Democrats cannot forgive an act of kindness or lose the chance to censure a Republican.

Excessive Politeness.

A young exquisite attempted to tip his beaver to two ladies at the same time yesterday, one on each side of the street, by losing his presence of mind his cane nearly tripped him up, and for a minute or two the ladies were in doubt as to whether he was attacked with cramps or had stepped on a hornet's nest.

Lodged in Jail.

A fellow named Walker, from the 7th civil district, was lodged in jail yesterday for stealing a small quantity of bacon.

OUR GEORGIA LETTER.

Georgia News—Macon and Knoxville Railroad.

MILLEDGEVILLE, GEORGIA, April 8, 1872.

We are having a continuation of the remarkably rainy season which has constituted the style of the weather for the past several months. And in regard to temperature, the present spring is the coldest and most backward we have ever known here. The indications are that the mania for planting large crops of cotton in this region has not yet been cured by sad experience. Until the grain culture increases very largely, we shall have no prosperity. We spent yesterday in Macon, and had the pleasure of taking by the hand, at the excellent Brown House, (the nicest hotel in the South,) your worthy fellow citizen, Mr. Frank Scott. His report of Knoxville was well-pleasing to the well-wishers of your city.

We attended, at Macon, one of the Reading and Recitation performances of a truly wonderful man—Prof. Bonham—whose family is from your neighboring county of Blount, where numerous relatives of his family yet reside. He is now a citizen of Oregon, and his brother is Chief Justice of that remote, Pacific shore sister State. He will give the beautiful land of East Tennessee, the home of his ancestry, a visit in the latter part of this month, and we are sure no finer intellectual treat has been had by East Tennesseans for a long time than they will then have. One feature in Mr. Bonham's recitations deserves all praise: their moral tone is pure and elevated, and no lady will risk being put to the blush by hearing him.

A newspaper—a daily—is about to be issued in Macon. The rivals of the old Telegraph and Messenger have hitherto succumbed before the great popularity of that able journal, but we shall see the result of the new enterprise. Its tone will be Conservative or Democratic.

We had a glimpse of President De Graffenried, of the Ocmulgee and North Georgia Railroad, and learned from him that the great enterprise would certainly be pushed forward. Its construction will be of vast importance to your region as well as to ours. The road will be built via Ducktown, Tellico Plains and Madisonville, along an independent route all the way to Knoxville, probably crossing the Holston river at Louisville, or at the mouth of Little river. So we conjecture at least.

We had the pleasure of a railway journey last evening with a son of the late General R. E. Lee, a very pleasant and accomplished young gentleman, who bears his father's distinguished name.

How does Mr. Fisher, your admirable artist, progress with his great painting of the scene at Duncuness, "Light Horse" Harry Lee's tomb?
Rain! rain!! It patters against my window, and the clouds darken the day.

VIVID ACCOUNT OF THE CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKE.

Grace Greenwood Gives Her Experience.

In a very interesting letter written to the New York Times, from Sacramento, under date of the 29th March, Grace Greenwood says of the earthquake.

It occurred, that is the great shock, at 2:20 o'clock, and then the clock stopped. It was late when I went to bed last night. I was tired and weak from recent illness, yet I could not sleep for a long time. I fancied the air was heavy and sultry. With a window wide open in my large chamber, I still had a strange feeling of oppression and apprehension, though all without was profoundly quiet—a dead stillness. After long tossing and weary waiting, I slept, it seemed but a little while. I dreamed I was at sea, and that the ship suddenly struck upon a rock, and shattered and shivered and cracked fearfully. I woke to find the rocking, straining motion of the ship, and the power of the wind and the waves. I had actually some moments of vague distress and terror before I realized where I was, and what was the strange tumult and shock, and knew that the fearful power that was shaking the great, solid house, and rattling the windows and swinging the chandeliers about me was neither of the air or sea—that the dull, appalling roar was neither the sound of a "nightly rushing wind," nor the "voice of many waters"—though it was like to them both—nor could it be taken for thunder, or the rumble of cars, or the tumult of battle. It was something peculiar, strange, terribly unfamiliar, yet impossible to be mistaken—a nameless horror of sound, muffled, portentous and all-pervading. It did not seem to me to belong to the earthquake. It seemed in the air, not under the ground. It was not the growl of imprisoned thunder—but the ominous, defiant roar of some unknown element of death and destruction, "flying all abroad." It was more terrible to me than the roaring and trembling all about me.

The shocks became much less violent and frequent, and at last were so gentle, that, worn out by strange emotions, I said to the dear old earth, I never had feared before: "Rock me to sleep, Mother!"—and she did it. At about 6 o'clock I was awakened by a smart shock, the last severe one we have had. During the day we have had several starts and tremblings, so slight that it is probable we should not have noticed them, had we not been on the qui vive.

There is in an earthquake all the elements of panic, of wild, mad terror, especially in its utter unexpectedness and uncertainty. Nothing in nature gives you warning that it is coming, nothing assures you that it is past. You cannot know during the first great shock whether it is subsiding or culminating. Still, we were more solemnized than terrified, at least after the bewildered waking out of sleep, and the first surprise and alarm. There was something so mysterious, so stupendous, so almost grand in that shudder of the solid globe, moaning and tossing under the still bright heavens. We were hushed and humbled; with a sense of the most utter helplessness we could but try to look beyond nature to nature's God, silently to appeal from her pitilessness to His pity, from her restlessness to His rest.

Church Meeting.

The members of the M. E. Church are requested to meet this afternoon at the church for the purpose of considering matters of importance.

The German Clergy and the Schools.

In the war with the church party, both ultramontane and evangelical, the direction of Prince Bismarck to the Bishop of Ermland to withdraw an excommunication inflicted on a school teacher, under penalty of losing his State salary, is a distinct attempt to prohibit spiritual action by secular means. In Baden, the State, under directions from Berlin, has gone even further, having prohibited all monks and non-German priests from preaching in the State churches, and suspended the law of compulsory attendance at school whenever the teacher is an infallibilist.

THE BATTLE HOUSE.

I HAVE LEASED THE HOTEL LATELY KNOWN as the Stacey House, and will henceforth conduct it in the most approved style.

The patronage of the public generally, and of my old friends particularly, who have stood by me so many years in the past, is respectfully solicited. I promise them a cordial reception and a comfortable home at the Battle House.

JOEL A. BATTLE.

It will be seen from the above that I have leased the Stacey House to General Battle. In retiring from the position which I have occupied for
